Dear Mr. Chapman:

We have noticed several of your advertisements in the Numismatist of the past three months, to the effect that you are selling at a very normal premium, the St. Gauden Twenty Dollar Gold Pieces, very close to par.

If you should have a specimen in high class condition, brilliant proof, none other considered, and are willing to send on approval, at prices which you quote, common date, please forward one only to the following address:

Dear Sir,

Your letter enclosing two $2½ gold pieces received and we have given you credit for $7.50 for the two. Just at the moment the cheapest St. Gaudens $20. we have is $30. a perfect piece. If you are interested in it at this price we shall be very glad to send on approval.

Awaiting your reply, we are,

Yours very truly,

Please send me credit for one to buy more than $30 for perfect piece of this pattern as you see them
at that price

Dear Mr. Chapman:

It is my intention for the immediate present not to order the St. Gauden $20.00 Gold Piece, and in view of the fact that there is a refund due me of $7.50 on the two coins which were returned to you for credit, per your notification, would appreciate it if you would kindly forward check to us for this amount.

Very truly yours,

Mr. Henry Chapman,

Dear Sir:-

We indeed regret to report that our two requests for check from you for $7.50 covering two $2.50 gold pieces returned to you, have been ignored, and we cannot understand why you do not remit on a small item of this kind. We feel sure that if the case were reversed, as you have always been insistent upon payment of your bills, that you would not look with much favor upon it.

Consequently, would appreciate it if you would remit this amount so that check will reach my possession not later than January 2nd. If, however, for any reason you prefer not to buy the two coins, return them so that disposition may be made elsewhere.

Very truly yours,

R.D.Banks,
